CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

- 5 1. The legal standard for summary judgment in a copyright case is no different than 6 the standard applied in all other civil actions. Shaw v. Lindheim, 919 F.2d 1353,
7 1358-59 (9th Cir. 1990).
- 8 2. The standard for summary judgment in copyright actions “must comport with the 9 standard applied to all civil actions.” Sinai v. Cal. Bureau of Automotive Repair, 25
10 U.S.P.Q.2d (BNA) 1809, *4 (N.D. Cal. 1992).
- 11 3. To prevail on a motion for summary judgment, the moving party must establish that 12 there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled
13 to judgment as a matter of law. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322-23
14 (1986) (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c)).
- 15 4. If a defendant seeks summary judgment in connection with an affirmative defense 16 to a claim or on a counterclaim on which they bear the burden of proof, their 17 “showing must be sufficient for the court to hold that no reasonable trier of fact 18 could find other than for [defendants].” Carnegie Mellon Univ. v. Hoffman La
19 Roche, Inc., 148 F.Supp.2d 1004, 1009 (N.D. Cal. 2001).
- 20 5. Summary judgment is not proper where there are “specific facts showing that there 21 is a genuine issue for trial.” Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 324 (1986).
- 22 6. Evidence presented must be viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving 23 party, and all justifiable inferences must be drawn in the non-moving party’s favor.
24 Anderson v. Liberty Lobby Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986).
- 25 7. Summary judgment is not proper if the moving party fails to establish that a 26 particular claim cannot be sustained on any theory. See Adickes v. S.H. Kress &
27 Co., 398 U.S. 144, 153-159 (1970) (summary judgment of claim improper if claim 28 can be sustained on any theory).

- 1 8. Summary judgment is not proper if it does not dispose of an entire claim or defense.
2 Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986).
- 3 9. Citation to the court's opinion in U.S. v. Mohalla, 545 F. Supp.2d 1035, 1039 (C.D.
4 Cal. 2008), for the proposition that a court may grant summary judgment for "all or 5 any part of a party's claim" is misleading. The term "claim" is not within the 6 internal quote in the U.S. v. Mohalla opinion. Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, rule
7 56, requires that a motion dispose of an entire action, claim or defense.
- 8 10. Bikram's copyright registration in the Bikram Sequence enjoys a statutory 9 presumption of validity. 17 U.S.C. § 410(c).
- 10 11. The presumption of validity attaches to works registered within five years of 11 publication. Ets-Hokin v. Skyy Spirits, Inc., 225 F.3d 1068, 1076 (9th Cir. 2000), 12 citing Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc., 889 F.2d 197, 201 (9th Cir.
13 1989) (registration of copyright creates a presumption of validity).
- 14 12. The 1979 edition of the book "Bikram's Beginning Yoga Class" (the "Book") was 15 registered within two years of publication, evidenced by Certificate of Copyright
16 Registration No. TX 179-160.
- 17 13. The "compilation of exercises" contained in the Bikram Sequence is specifically 18 covered by Certificate of Copyright Registration No. TX 5-624-003. This 19 registration is supplemental to Registration No. TX 179-160 for the Book.
- 20 14. Copyright Registration No. TX 5-624-003 for the Bikram Sequence enjoys the 21 same statutory presumption of validity as Copyright Registration No. TX 179-160.
22 17 U.S.C. § 410(c).
- 23 15. The fixed media covered by Copyright Registration No. TX 5-499-662, No. TXu 1-24 022-657, No. TXu 934-417, No. PA 1-053-335, No. TXu 1-323-218 and No. TX 6-25 555-860 depict and describe the Bikram Sequence covered by the Book, therefore 26 they enjoy the same statutory presumptions of validity as the Book. 17 U.S.C. § 27 410(c).
- 28

- 1 16. Defendants bear the burden of overcoming the presumption of validity and
2 establishing that each of Bikram's copyright registrations is invalid to a summary
3 judgment certainty. Ets-Hokin v. Skyy Spirits, Inc., 225 F.3d 1068, 1075-76 (9th
4 Cir. 2000).
- 5 17. Defendants cannot meet the burden of overcoming the presumption of validity by 6 offering conclusory arguments in briefs or hearsay, contradictory pronouncements
7 in policy statements. 321 Studios v. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, Inc., 307 F.
8 Supp. 2d 1085, 1090-91 (N.D. Cal. 2004).
- 9 18. The presumption of validity of a copyright registration may be rebutted only if it is 10 demonstrated that the work is not original. North Coast Industries v. Jason
11 Maxwell, Inc., 972 F.2d 1031, 1033 (9th Cir. 1992).
- 12 19. Bikram's Asana Sequence is a collection and assembly of preexisting materials,
13 selected, coordinated, and arranged in such a way that the resulting work as a whole
14 constitutes an original work of authorship. 17 U.S.C. §101.
- 15 20. The fact that component parts of a collective work are neither original to the author 16 nor copyrightable by the author does not preclude a determination that the 17 combination of such component parts as a separate entity is both original and 18 copyrightable. Apple Barrel Prods, Inc. v. R.D. Beard, 730 F.2d 384, 388 (5th Cir.
19 1984).
- 20 21. A selection and arrangement of different programs into the "broadcast day" of a 21 television station constitutes a copyrightable compilation that may be owned by the 22 station regardless of the ownership of copyrights of individual programs. Nat'l
23 Assoc. of Broad v. Copyright Royalty Tribunal, 675 F.2d 367, 377-78 (D.C. Cir.
24 1982).
- 25 22. Copyright protection may be allowed for compilations consisting largely of non-
26 copyrightable elements. Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc., 889 F.2d 197,
27 204-05 (9th Cir. 1989).
- 28

23. As long as a factual compilation features an original selection or arrangement of facts, even if the underlying facts are not copyrightable, the compilation may be entitled to copyright protection. Situation Management Systems, Inc. v. ASP Consulting Group, 560 F.3d 53, 61 (1st Cir. 2009).
24. When an author makes creative choices in describing a process or system, itself not copyrightable under 17 U.S.C. § 102, those creative choices, "including the works' overall arrangement and structure," allow the work to satisfy the originality requirement for copyright protection. Situation Management Systems, Inc. v. ASP Consulting Group, 560 F.3d 53, 61 (1st Cir. 2009).
25. "When a work displays a significant element of compilation, that element is [protectable] even though the individual components may not be, for originality may be found in taking the commonplace and making it into a new combination or arrangement." United States v. Hamilton, 583 F.2d 448, 451 (9th Cir. 1978).
26. Work which results from independent efforts of its author is copyrightable. Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp., 768 F.2d 1001, 1019 (9th Cir. 1989).
27. A compilation of works could qualify for protection even though its individual components were part of the public domain so long as original skill or labor was expended in creating the compilation. Apple Barrel Prods, Inc. v. R.D. Beard, 730 F.2d 384, 388 (5th Cir. 1984).
28. A protectable compilation requires "(1) the collection and assembly of pre-existing material, facts or data; (2) the selection, coordination or arrangement of those materials; and (3) the creation, by virtue of the particular selection, coordination, or arrangement, of an 'original' work of authorship." Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural Telephone Services, Co., 499 U.S. 340, 357 (1991).
29. "Originality" refers to the requirement that "the 'author' contributed something more than a 'merely trivial' variation, recognizably 'his own'." And, "[o]riginal, as the term is used in copyright, means only that the work was independently created by

1 the author (as opposed to copied from other works) and that it possesses at least
 2 some minimal degree of creativity." Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural Telephone
 3 Services, Co., 499 U.S. 340, 345 (1991).

4 30. "[T]he requisite level of creativity is extremely low; even a slight amount will
 5 suffice." Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural Telephone Services, Co., 499 U.S. 340,
 6 345 (1991).

7 31. The mere fact that Bikram used a matter in the public domain to create his Asana
 8 Sequence does not in and of itself preclude a finding of originality. Ets-Hokin v.
 9 Skyy Spirits, Inc., 225 F.3d 1068, 1076 (9th Cir. 2000).

10 32. The Copyright Act recognizes protection for "pre-existing material, facts or data."
 11 Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural Telephone Services, Co., 499 U.S. 340, 357 (1991).

12 33. Courts routinely uphold copyright protection for works that compile public domain
 13 data. See, e.g., CDN Inc. v. Kapes, 197 F.3d 1256, 1260 (9th Cir. 1999) (coin price
 14 guide was sufficiently original and creative as a compilation to warrant copyright 15 protection because prices were "compilations of data chosen and weighed with 16 creativity and judgment"); Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc., 889 F.2d 17 197, 204-05 (9th Cir. 1989) (organizers were copyrightable as compilations because 18 a "copyrightable compilation can consist mainly or entirely of uncopyrightable
 19 elements"); Urantia Foundation v. Maaherra, 114 F.3d 955, 958-59 (9th Cir. 1997)
 20 (selection and arrangement of religious teachings believed to be of divine
 21 authorship were sufficiently creative to warrant copyright protection as a
 22 compilation); United States v. Hamilton, 583 F.2d 448, 450-51 (9th Cir. 1978) (map
 23 maker's selection, arrangement and presentation of terrain features which were 24 already in the public domain was copyrightable as a compilation); Kregos v.
 25 Associated Press, 937 F.2d 700 (2nd Cir. 1991) (finding copyright protection for 26 the format of a baseball form containing non-protectable pitching statistics); Key
 27 Publications Inc. v. Chinatown Today Publishing Eners, Inc., 945 F.2d 509, 516
 28

1 (2d Cir. 1991) (upholding copyright protection for a telephone book compiling,
2 selecting and arranging names and telephone numbers).

3 34. The Copyright Act protects pantomimes, which is broadly defined to consist of 4 “significant gesture without speech.” See 17 U.S.C. § 102(a)(4).

5 35. In Christensen, the Supreme Court recognized an important limitation on the broad
6 deference given by courts to agency regulations that was recognized in Chevron,
7 U.S.A., Inc. v. NRDC, Inc., 467 U.S. 837 (1984). Christensen v. Harris County, 529
8 U.S. 576, 586-87 (2000).

9 36. “Here, however, we confront an interpretation contained in an opinion letter, not 10 one arrived at after, for example, a formal adjudication or notice-and-comment
11 rulemaking. Interpretations such as those in opinion letters – like interpretations 12 contained in policy statements, agency manuals, and enforcement guidelines, all of 13 which lack the force of law – do not warrant Chevron-style deference.” Christensen
14 v. Harris County, 529 U.S. 576, 586-87 (2000).

15 37. Agency interpretations such as policy statements are “‘entitled to respect’ . . . but 16 only to the extent that those interpretations have the ‘power to persuade.’”
17 Christensen v. Harris County, 529 U.S. 576, 586-87 (2000) (internal citations 18 omitted).

19 38. “The weight of such a judgment in a particular case will depend upon the 20 thoroughness evident in its consideration, the validity of its reasoning, its 21 consistency with earlier and later pronouncements, and all those factors which give 22 it power to persuade, if lacking power to control.” Skidmore v. Swift & Co., 323
23 U.S. 134, 140 (1944).

24 39. A court cannot make a determination that a copyright is not valid or is not infringed
25 as a matter of law by granting a motion for summary judgment because such a 26 determination requires a close factual analysis. Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural 27 Telephone Services, Co., 499 U.S. 340, 357-58 (1991).
28

1 40. The trier of fact determines the originality of a work. Swirsky v. Carey, 376 F.3d
2 841, 844 (9th Cir. 2004).

3 41. The Copyright Office will only register works which, after examination, it
4 determines are made up of copyrightable subject matter and will decline to register
5 materials that it deems outside the scope of copyright protection. See Marasclaco v.
6 Fantasy, Inc., 953 F.2d 469, 473 (9th Cir. 1991).
